During the Han Dynasty reign, artists related chronicles or heroic epics of their time through the medium of sumptuous stone carvings. Inspired by this ancestral art of telling stories in stone, Tales by Pave has been created to design a range of decorative plaques fashioned for modern interiors. Part of the series is made of bamboo powder, as well as other natural ingredients. Bamboo is well known in Asia for its health benefits, so Tales by Pave is imbued with healthy traits. The collection brings a sense of well being, both inner and outer, to daily life.
