Technical (HK) Manufacturing Ltd.

Technical produces quality kitchenware and was in the cutlery industry for more than 16 years before entering the kitchen tools, gadgets and bar accessories markets nine years ago. Superior partnership strategies – such as those with Brookstone and Carrefour – have been at the heart of its success. Technical invests a huge amount of resources on product research and development. Its creative teams and groups of engineers work hard with partners via OEM/ODM projects to turn creative notions into marketable products. In the coming years the company will focus its strategy and resources on small household appliances, such as kettles and toasters, with special elements incorporated for added value.
